

Claim the Promise

Kate Ulmer, 1922

Matthew Lindsay McPhail

♩=106

1. Ne - ver let a shade of care rest on your brow, You can
2. He has called you in the world to shine for Him, Ne - ver
3. When the err - ing feet you seek to guide a - right From the 4. When at last your ser - vice for Him here shall cease, And He have the Sav - ior's help - ing hand just now; He has prom - ised if His Word you need the bright - ness of your life grow dim; He has prom - ised ev - er - more He paths of dark - ness in - to His own light, He has prom - ised pow'r to give you bids you rise to realms of end - less peace, He has prom - ised your re - ward on will be - lieve, That ac - cord - ing to your faith you shall re - ceive. will be - stow All that you may need to keep your light a - glow. Claim the prom - ise, plead it from a - bove As you tell the sto - ry of His won - drous love. high shall be Far be - yond all tell - ing thro' e - ter - ni - ty.

Refrain

o'er and o'er; On His Word lay hold as ne'er be - fore; Claim the prom - ise, plead it plead it o'er and o'er lay hold as ne'er be - fore, o'er and o'er; Let your faith be might - i - er than e'er be - fore.

plead it o'er and o'er;