

The Great Reaping Day

Robert Emmett Winsett, 1919, alt.

Robert Emmett Winsett

♩ = 95

1. Time is com - ing, we know, when to judg - ment we'll go, There to
2. Ev - ery day, ev - ery deed, you are sow - ing the seed Fruits of
3. If it's Hea - ven you'd choose, then there's no time to lose, Look a-4. Ev - ery act you per - form is as seed to some - one, For the reap as in life we've sown; Death e - ter - nal we'll reap if we life or of death will bear, When you reap what you sow, to that

- round you, the fields are white, Go ye forth to the field, sow and in - flu - ence ne'er will die; Then be care - ful each day what you sow to the flesh, Hea - ven's joys then will ne - ver be known.

Refrain

land may you go, To that bright, hap - py home o - ver there. May we reap gold - en grain, Soon will fall the dark sha - dows of night.
do, what you say, For you'll meet it a - gain by and by.

sow right - eous seed for the reap - ing Which is com - ing to ev - ery - one; O the joy on that day if we hear Je - sus say, "Come, ye bless - ed, a crown you have won."