

Left Behind

James Allen Crutchfield, 1906

John Wainright, 1750

♩=160

1. Two wo - men shall be grind - ing at the mill, Two men shall
 2. Two boys be sleep - ing in the self - same bed, On the same
 3. Two sweet - hearts shall be laugh - ing by the way, Two tra - velers
 4. Two law - yers shall be por - ing o'er a brief, Two doc - tors
 5. Two sol - diers hear their coun - try's call and go, Two tongues to be at home on plain or hill; Two wo - men shall be work - ing in the field, breast each leaned his ba - by head; Two girls in so - cial cir - cles side by side, meet - ing at the close of day; Two fig - ures at an al - tar, side by side, seek - ing means to give re - lief; Two faith - ful, trust - ed of - fi - cers of state, tests of truth say yes, or no; Two heads feel sun and rain which come to all;

Two men shall be in search of wealth con - cealed, But one shall be of Two girls in learn - ing with each o - ther vied; But one has thought of One is a groom, the o - ther, blush - ing bride; But when the veil that Two bank - ers at their desk - earl - y and late; But sin holds one by Two souls shall hear God's oft re - peat - ed call— But when at last is hope at last be - reft— "One shall be ta - ken and the o - ther left."

 Him whose side was cleft, "One shall be ta - ken and the o - ther left."
 hides is rent and reft, "One shall be ta - ken and the o - ther left."
 mill - stone weight and heft— "One shall be ta - ken and the o - ther left."
 wove life's web and weft, "One shall be ta - ken and the o - ther left."