

The Savior Is Bending

William Luff (1850-?)

Charles Reeves

$\text{♩} = 127$

1. The Sav-ior is bend-ing a - bove thee, To hear what thy spir - it will say, To the ten - der em -
2. Look up in the face of the Sav - ior, The thorn crowned yet beau-ti - ful brow; He waits the re -
3. Thou hear-est His of - fers of mer - cy, The prom-ise of par - don and peace; Come, wilt thou not

- brace of His mer - cy and grace Will the an - swer be "Yea, Lord," or "Nay"? "I died for thee,"
- ply of thy tear - dim-ming eye, Oh, what wilt thou an - swer Him now? The Sav - ior is say to His voice a glad "Yea," And bid all thy wa - ver - ings cease? The Sav - ior is sweet-ly He whis-pers, "See, here are the wounds in My hands"; Thy fin - ger bring near, and touch with-out bend-ing a - bove thee, He asks for thy heart in re - turn, For the heart that He gave, to ran - som and bend-ing a - bove thee, His quick ear a - waits the glad word, "Lord Je - sus, to - day, I whis - per my fear The nail prints as o'er thee He stands. save, Oh, will not thy glad spir - it burn? The Sav-ior is bend-ing a - bove thee, To hear what thy 'Yea,' And know that my an - swer is heard."

Refrain

spir-it will say, To the ten-der em - brace of His mer-cy and grace, Will the an-swer be "Yea, Lord," or "Nay"?